

BLAVITY

Opinion

#BlackLivelihoodMatters: Why Racial Justice Movements Must Fight For Affordable Housing

This is the moment when Americans need to understand how our public systems, public housing and public safety currently co-exist.

By LaRence Snowden

LaRence Snowden is the board Chairman of the Houston Housing Authority. He has been serving on the board of commissioners at HHA since 2012. Snowden is also the assistant vice president of research for Texas Southern University.